

On Your First Day of School...

Something new and exciting is coming your way!

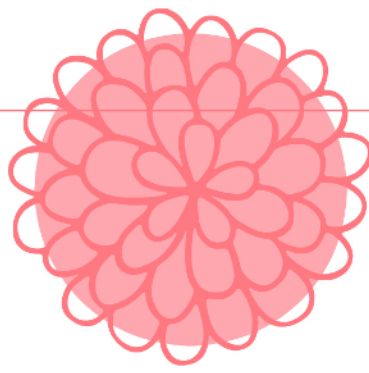

I will miss you very much as you head back to school, but I'm also excited for the new adventures you have ahead of you.

New beginnings can make anyone nervous but don't you worry. You are smart. You are kind. You are brave. There is no one in the entire world just like you.

You will learn, play and use your creativity on this new adventure but if you ever have a moment where you feel scared or sad, I have something to help you feel better.

This is a gift for you. I have one for you and one for me. We will both wear it and if you ever feel sad or lonely, all you have to do is touch it and remember I'm always with you.

I Love You,
